++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A showery weekend.

Today:
A band of rain across the region during the morning will clear to a mix of showers and some bright or sunny spells. The showers will turn heavy by the afternoon and bring the risk of some hail and thunder. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Any lingering showers will gradually ease during the evening to leave a mostly dry night with some clear spells and the odd isolated shower. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Sunday:
A largely fine and dry start before cloud builds throughout the morning. Widespread showers develop into the afternoon and persist through the day, heavy and possibly thundery at times. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Remaining unsettled with sunshine and showers throughout, with heavy and possibly thundery outbreaks on Monday. Turning drier on Tuesday and Wednesday with more isolated showers. Temperature slightly below average.
